

WORLD NEWS.

THOSE POLICE COURT BILLS.

Suits May Be Brought to Compel Their Payment.

Another Scandal Expected to Come from the Claims.

The circumstances surrounding the bills, amounting to $20,000 for fitting up Justice Haggerty's Police Court, Brooklyn, which were to have been legalized by a commission, are so complicated that lively times are expected, and many suits may be brought before the claims are paid.

The strange part of these bills is that nobody seems to know enough about the claims to audit them intelligently. Even Mayor Boody disclaims all knowledge of the correctness of the bills, and refuses to take upon himself further than to say that the Myrtle Avenue Court "is said to be the finest in the city."

When Mr. Weber heard that the bills had been returned to the claimants he seemed jubilant, but could not say what would be the ultimate result.

The anxiety of the Comptroller and Auditor to wash their hands of the whole business and their refusal to examine the bills is looked upon as a direct forecast of future trouble.

The original bills for fitting up the Myrtle Avenue Court were sent by the Albee firm last July, after hearing a report from the Comptroller, Arthur J. Henney, who had charge of fitting up two new police courts.

It is not unlikely that the September Grand Jury will be called upon to investigate this latest scandal in Brooklyn's government, in which case District Attorney Ridgway may fail to manipulate his interpretation of the law in blocking the finding of an indictment.

The mere fact that certain city officials are so anxious to cover the cost of the work with the bills for the Myrtle Avenue Court lends an additional air of suspicion.

If the Grand Jury takes the matter in hand, it is not likely that it will want to know why over $20,000 was paid for remodeling the court when practical engineers of the City Works Department estimated that about $10,000 would cover the cost of the work.

The Grand Jury will also ask why the work was given to certain contractors without first advertising and soliciting bids.

Mayor Boody says now that he has paid a visit to the court-house in question, and that, in his opinion, it would be a waste of money to employ an expert before the bills can be properly audited.

Yet, in the face of the fact that Mayor Boody has said that he will approve the bills before the Commission takes such action, in accordance with Corporation Counsel Jenks's opinion.

"PARKHURST" RECAPTURED.

But Christian Muller's Monkey Had Lots of Fun with East New Yorkers.

Christian Muller, who keeps a hotel at Fulton street and Alabama avenue, East New York, was in good sport this morning over the reported capture of his pet monkey, "Dr. Parkhurst," which escaped from his cage yesterday morning and created the biggest kind of a circus in the neighborhood all day and well into last evening.

"Parkhurst" is the principal feature of a small menagerie which Muller has as a sort of attraction to his hotel. "Billy" Ward and "Billy" Hart, employees of the Broadway surface railroad, took a great interest in the simian part of the "zoo," and yesterday morning Wa opened "Parkhurst's" cage to feed him a banana.

Instead of "snatching the bun," the "doctor" made his escape, and in three leaps and bounds he was out of the cage, across the avenue, and upon the roof of Bennett's Casino.

There he remained, gazing contemptuously at Ward, then coolly jumped fourteen feet to an adjoining house, and then to a tree, where he perched and chattered deliberately.

It was great fun for the monkey, who strenuously resisted all efforts to entice him down, and tried to persuade another monkey, "King Albert," which Muller kept out in the tree after him, to remain with him.

SAYS WIEGMAN STABBED HER.

Pretty Katie Toner Wouldn't Give Him a Kiss.

She Was "Rushing the Growler" and He Waylaid Her.

William Wiegman, a saloon-keeper at 47 Grand street, Williamsburg, was held for trial by Justice Goetting today on a charge of felonious assault.

His alleged victim is Katie Toner, an attractive young woman living at 29 Richardson street, who received a severe scalp wound while defending herself from a desperate attack.

Katie left her home early last evening to visit friends at 40 Grand street. During the evening some one suggested a pint of beer, and Katie was selected to go for it.

When she reached the saloon Wiegman smiled at her. He was drunk, it is alleged, and she paid no attention to him. He walked to the hallway while the can was being filled and awaited her return.

As the girl stepped out of the saloon into the dimly lighted hall, Wiegman greeted her, she paid no attention to him and started for the door, but had gone only a few feet when she was stopped.

"You are a pretty girl," said Wiegman, "and I would like a kiss."

Katie tried to push him to one side, but Wiegman wouldn't have it. He took her by the arm and she screamed as she struggled to free herself.

During the struggle the young woman received an ugly wound across the scalp, she managed to reach the sidewalk, where she fell in a faint from the loss of blood, which was flowing freely. Wiegman made no attempt to follow, and a crowd soon gathered.

The coroner, of the Bedford avenue police station, who was summoned by the young woman, was seen by the police.

"What is the man?" asked Detective Corcoran.

Wiegman replied that he didn't know, and that he started to leave the place, as he was going out to the young woman's apartment.

"The detective" at once took him into custody, and an ambulance was sent to the hospital, where he was taken.

Police Captain Campbell, of the Adams street station, Brooklyn, and several detectives are endeavoring to run down a gang of doorknob thieves, who have shown great activity in the precinct during the past week.

To-day the police learned from five house-owners, who reported that the gang had visited their buildings and stripped them of the doorknobs and County Physician A. Warner, who is erecting an apartment-house at 104 Remsen street, 22 Henry street, 104 Remsen street, 22 Henry street, 104 Remsen street, 22 Henry street.

About a week ago the gang wrenched the door knobs from the front doors of an apartment-house on Cornwell street, owned by "Boss" Hugh McLaughlin.

FOUGHT AGAINST ARREST.

They Objected to Being Aroused from Drunken Sleep.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY HANGED.

Little Frank Softy Found Lifeless in His Father's Barn.

He Went There to Have His Customary Evening Romp.

In the front parlor of the handsome residence of Frank Softy, a wealthy builder at 1343 DeKalb avenue, Williamsburg, to-day is the body of William Softy, his thirteen-year-old son. The boy met death last evening by accidental hanging. He was found suspended from the noose of a rope attached to the rafters of a barn in the rear of his home by his father, who had gone to the stable to find him.

The body was cold in death when discovered. It was cut down and carried into the house.

William was the sixth eldest of ten children. He was devotedly attached to his father, and went nightly to the barn to watch the grooming of the horses.

Sometimes he assisted in the work. After finishing his supper last evening he went to his father's room, where he was told to wait for him. He then skipped away, laughing merrily.

It was the custom of Mr. Softy to go to the barn before he entered the house. The work had been properly attended to by his help. It was long after the hour when he had entered the house.

He saw the horses had been completely bedded, and he called to his boy, but received no response.

While making a search about the premises he was confronted by a lifeless form of his son hanging from the rafters. At the first sight he cried for help, and, reaching his knife from his pocket, cut the rope from which he was suspended and gently laid it down on the floor.

A hasty examination showed that life was extinct. At this time the remainder of the family and several neighbors were on the scene.

When the mother saw the corpse of her son she fell in a faint and had to be carried into the house. It was some time before she could be revived.

The coroner, of the Bedford avenue police station, who was summoned by the young woman, was seen by the police.

"What is the man?" asked Detective Corcoran.

Wiegman replied that he didn't know, and that he started to leave the place, as he was going out to the young woman's apartment.

"The detective" at once took him into custody, and an ambulance was sent to the hospital, where he was taken.

Police Captain Campbell, of the Adams street station, Brooklyn, and several detectives are endeavoring to run down a gang of doorknob thieves, who have shown great activity in the precinct during the past week.

To-day the police learned from five house-owners, who reported that the gang had visited their buildings and stripped them of the doorknobs and County Physician A. Warner, who is erecting an apartment-house at 104 Remsen street, 22 Henry street, 104 Remsen street, 22 Henry street.

About a week ago the gang wrenched the door knobs from the front doors of an apartment-house on Cornwell street, owned by "Boss" Hugh McLaughlin.

EDITOR MURPHY'S TYPE PIED.

Work of Unknown Vandals in a Flatbush Newspaper Office.

Mr. White, of Horsewhipped Fame, Is Interested in the Paper.

FLATBUSH, L. I., Aug. 2.—When Henry C. Murphy, editor and proprietor of The Supervisor, a local weekly paper here, opened his office this morning he found that one of the windows of the office, which is situated on Flatbush avenue, near the post-office, had been broken open and a dozen cases of type strewn over the floor.

The type had been set up, and laid on the floor, which is supposed to go to press this evening. Mr. Murphy says the vandals could have done $500 damage if they wanted to, but it seems they took particular care to tamper with the type only set up for the paper.

It will take him about three weeks to get things to rights in his office again, but he intends to get The Supervisor out to-morrow by having the paper set up in New York.

"I have my suspicions as to who is the author of it," he said, "and have reported to the police and Detective Murphy is working on the case."

The Flatbush Press, edited by V. L. Bellinger, is another local paper, and defends the town officials, while The Supervisor, in which George White, manager of the Union Printing Company, of 15 Vandewater street, New York, is interested, pounds them.

Mr. White gained notoriety some time ago by being horsewhipped by Bellinger's sister-in-law, Miss Hemminger, who was then a girl, and he has since then, and a bitter rivalry exists between them.

Mr. Murphy says it will cost him about $25 to get his paper out in New York.

NEXT SESSIONS SEPT. 5.

Eight Prisoners Sentenced by Judge Moore This Morning.

Judge Moore to-day adjourned the Court of Sessions in Brooklyn until Sept. 5. Before the court closed the following prisoners were arraigned and sentenced:

Charles G. McManus, stealing money from John H. Starin, by whom he was employed, sent to the penitentiary for one year; Margaret Lynch, grand larceny in the second degree, sixty days in the penitentiary; William Heiner, assault in the third degree, thirty days in jail; Alex. Luna, grand larceny in the second degree, one year; and George J. Slattery, assault in the second degree, twenty-nine days in jail; James Adams, assault in the third degree, twenty-nine days in jail.

LEVI P. MORTON'S BARN BURNED.

Eighty Head of Cattle and Nine Horses Cremated.

KINGSTON, Aug. 2.—Fire at 4 o'clock this morning destroyed the barn owned by Levi P. Morton, a well-known politician, near Rhinebeck, a chicken-house, carpenter shop and other buildings.

There were nine horses, eighty head of Guernsey cattle, several hundred tons of hay, a number of reapers and mowing machines and other valuable property destroyed. The total loss will be nearly $200,000. The barn was one of the largest in the country, being 200 feet long.

The fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin. Since Sunday night there has been several incendiary fires in Dutchess County, at Wappinger Falls, Channeryville and other places.

WANT MR. THOMAS TO RESIGN.

Zulu Prince Asks His Ranks in the Braas of His Flock.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 2.—There is trouble in the Mount Olive Baptist Colored Church, on Arlington avenue. A faction of the congregation are trying to force the pastor, Rev. H. D. Thomas, to resign.

A secret meeting was held by the trustees of the church last night, but what transpired has not yet been made public. It is understood that the charges were preferred against the pastor.

The trouble began about a year ago, when the pastor introduced Gorman Monks, a Zulu Prince, to the people of the church. The pastor was in receipt of honor of the Zulu Prince at the paragonage. The colored population especially honored Gorman Monks, and it was a great surprise to many when the report was circulated that Gorman Monks was a Zulu Prince.

White and Dominic Thomas has been in New York for some time, and he has been introduced to the Zulu Prince in good faith to his people and he has given them no cause to doubt his sincerity. He has not made up his mind yet whether he will remain. Mr. Thomas resides in Newark, N. J., at 27 Clinton street, Newark.

ABDUCTED BY HER FATHER.

Isabella Pickering Sought For by the Bayonne Police.

BAYONNE, N. J., Aug. 2.—The police of this city say they have established the fact that little Isabella Pickering was abducted from her home, 32 Willow place, this city, yesterday afternoon by her own father.

Pickering, who has been separated from his wife since December, has been living in New York for several months and was not seen in Bayonne until two days ago.

He watched closely the movements of his wife, and when he saw her board a train for Jersey City, Mrs. Pickering learned of the abduction of Isabella when she returned home last evening. At the first opportunity she called on the police, and the latter have since been trying to find a clue to the whereabouts of the child.

MRS. PHIL DALY'S ARM BROKEN.

She Stumbled Over an Uneven Sidewalk While at Long Branch.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 2.—Mrs. Philip Daly, wife of Gambler Phil Daly, who lives on Chelsea avenue, is suffering from a broken arm received by a fall from a sidewalk.

In company with another woman she was leisurely walking down Broadway from Second avenue to the beach last night. In front of Cur's store the sidewalk is unevenly graded, one of the highest in the city.

Mrs. Daly stumbled, and fell heavily, breaking her arm.

Drunk and Tug Burned.

Dredge and Tug Burned.

Drunk and Tug Burned.

BEEFMAIT.

For Body, Blood and Brain.

It Makes New Blood and Tissue.

Everyday Experience Recommends It.

Beefmalt Sustains the Overtaxed System.

Sturdy Nourishment for the Sick.

Vigorous Thinking Easy to the Well-Nourished.

Beefmalt is fresh beef, malted grain and the juices of celery. From these may we expect to find fresh and color and supply materials for building up the body.

It is reasonable to expect, and realize, that the Beefmalt gives appetite, promotes a quick and complete digestion and nourishes wasted and wasting bodies.

Physicians say they get better results from Beefmalt than from any other nutriment.

35 Cents a Bottle.

BON VOYAGE, NAWAB.

Rampur's Ruler and Suite Sail on the Teutonic.

His Highness the Nawab of Rampur sailed this morning on the Teutonic for Liverpool. The Nawab and his suite occupied five handsomely furnished state-rooms, which had been engaged before the party had even arrived in New York.

Capt. Colvin, of the British Army, in whose charge the young Nawab has been on his tour around the world, was faithful to the last in guarding his ward against any interviews, and the party, as soon as they boarded the vessel, repaired to their rooms and were not seen while the Teutonic remained at her dock.

Prof. Merza Forbush, Inspector of Education of Rampur, who accompanied his Highness, has taken notes of the places visited in America, and will, on his return, deliver lectures on the history of the tour for the enlightenment of his countrymen.

The Nawab and his party will remain in London four or five weeks, and then sail for India. His Highness will be accompanied by his wife, a first-year-old daughter of the Nawab of Javhor, a neighbor of the Nawab of Rampur.

DEPOSITORS RETURN M. N. Y.

The Savings Bank Here Now Completely at an End.

Savings bank depositors are gradually recovering from the feeling of alarm which has been manifested so generally during the last two or three days, and a show of the principal banks this morning.

Several of the principal banks have been gradually diminishing, but that a large number of depositors were bringing back the money they had already drawn out and asking the banks to take care of it for them.

Several of the bank presidents, when asked their opinion regarding the present situation, said that the situation was not so serious as it appeared to be, and that the money they had already drawn out and asking the banks to take care of it for them.

Several of the bank presidents, when asked their opinion regarding the present situation, said that the situation was not so serious as it appeared to be, and that the money they had already drawn out and asking the banks to take care of it for them.

LEADS THE WORLD.

ON THE HARLEY RR.

STRONGER AND SAFER THAN BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

ALL TITLES GUARANTEED BY THE GERMAN-AMERICAN REAL-ESTATE TITLE GUARANTEE CO., 36-38 NASSAU ST.

FREE DOUBLE SPECIAL TRAIN SUNDAYS AT 2.15 P. M.

FROM HARLEM DIVISION GRAND CENTRAL DEPOT, AND FROM MOTT HAVEN STATION 10 MINUTES LATER.

WEEK-DAY TRIPS AT 10.30 A. M. & 2.15 P. M. FROM SAME DEPOTS.

Main Office, 165-167 Broadway, N. Y.

Excursions.

"THE NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR."

Sporting.

The Victor we sell at 39 cents a day.

Remember one thing, second-hand Victor or Credentals is worth more than all the second-hand wheels. Bargains in second-hand wheels.

LONG BRANCH BOATS.

SHOREWATER RIVER ROUTE.

ERIE LINES.

SHOHOLA GLEN.

GREENWOOD LAKE GLENS.

ROCKAWAY BEACH.

SEA BEACH ROUTE.

3 Hours' Sail, 15c.

STABBED HER TWICE.

Mamie Would Have Killed Lucy but for Timely Assistance.

Lucy, a New York girl, stabbed Mamie, twenty-one years old, with a kitchen knife, but for the timely assistance of a neighbor, Mamie would have been killed.

Don't Be Imposed Upon.

Don't Be Imposed Upon.

Desertion as a Business.

Desertion as a Business.

Anna Orr Still Missing.

Anna Orr Still Missing.

Woolley Heard From.

Woolley Heard From.

Shipping News.

Shipping News.

There's a Gold Mine.

There's a Gold Mine.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.

Corner In News--The Sunday World.